Gubernatorial candidate Gandy and district attorney incumbent both run strong in Hancock

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Evelyn Gandy will face Attorney General Bill Allain in a runoff Aug. 23 for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Gandy took Hancock County with 4,024 votes to Allain's 2,711.

Statewide, with 59 percent of the votes counted, Gandy had 174,607 votes, or 37.5 percent to Allain's 166,070 votes, or 35.7 percent. Sturdivant trailed with 99,721, or 21.6 percent.

The winner of the Gandy-Allain runoff will face Republican nominee Leon Bramlett in the November general election.

The Associated Press Wednesday said with 1,408 of 2,070 precincts reported, John Ainsworth had an unofficial count of 107,263; Dennis Dollar of Gulfport had 96,905; and Dick Molpus with 108,016.

Other contenders included State Senator Charles Pittman of Grenada with 70,956 votes. Lanier Hurdle of Holly Springs with 59,608, Joseph Patrick Griffin of Jackson with 27,484, and John H. Voss of Purvis with 7,147.

Ed Pittman seeking the attorney general's spot ran strong in Hancock County with an unofficial count of 4,539. Following in second place was Niles McNeel with 1,904. Other candidates running were Marshall Lusk with 482 and W.O. (Chet) Dillard with 1,102.

Pittman, 43, said as attorney general he would work with the state auditor to wipe out corruption in government. He also said he would see that consumers were treated fairly by utilities and oppose establishment of a nuclear disposal dump in the state.

Complete but unofficial tallies in the race for district attorney for Harrison, Hancock and Stone counties, show that incumbent Albert Necaise will face Cono Caranna, a Biloxi attorney, in a runoff Aug. 23.

Necaise ran strong in Hancock County with the unofficial count of 4,554 votes to Caranna's 2,815. Third contender, Ed O'Neill had 1,245 of the votes.

Necaise is seeking his fourth term as district attorney.

The winner of the runoff will have no Republican opposition, no independents have qualified for the office.

Bay woman injured in US-90 accident

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Bay St. Louis woman was injured in a car-bicycle accident Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of US-90 and Dunbar Avenue in that city.

Sgt. Joe Pica of the Bay Police Department reported at the accident scene at about 4:40 p.m. that Louise Nash, no age available, of 414 Washington St. was taken by friends to Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis with undetermined injuries.

The woman left the scene with her dress spattered with blood and was grasping her mouth in apparent pain.

Mary Perkins, hospital public relations director, reported late Wednesday afternoon that Nash was expected to be released from HGH later that day after undergoing treatment for facial lacerations and contusions.

Her bicycle was obviously battered and bent in the accident.

Pica said Nash refused transport to the hospital by Mobile Medic.

The woman was struck while apparently crossing the highway while traveling south on Dunbar on her bicycle, Pica reported.

The police officer said the woman was struck by an automobile driven by Bruce B. Bourgeois Jr., 24, of 145 Felicity St. in Bay St. Louis who was also traveling south on Dunbar, but was attempting to turn west on US-90 when the mishap occurred.

Pica said no citations would be filed at that time until his accident investigation was completed.

But the officer added Bourgeois said he didn't see the woman as he turned onto the highway.

Peterson wins in a landslide with 73 percent of the votes

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Back in his office Wednesday morning, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson was still beaming a little from the landslide victory over his challenger, former sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

Peterson captured 73 percent of the vote in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Peterson took all but two precincts, Bayou Phillip and Dedeaux and tied in Catahoula. Unofficial totals gave Peterson 2,443 and Ladner 2,355 votes.

Peterson said, "I'm real happy, happier this time than the last because this time the people voted on the job I've done for the last three and a half years. I think before they elected me to see what I could do."

"I'm happy because the people like the job done by the sheriff's office," he added.

About the future, Peterson said, "I think we're going to basically continue on the path that we've been operating on for the last three and a half years with some small changes."

He said he didn't want to mention the changes yet until they have a meeting. "I would like to give more protection in the outlying areas especially in North Hancock County and West Hancock, Pearllington," said Peterson.

"Basically what I have planned, with the help of the supervisors, is to keep a patrol car in Pearllington like we do in North Hancock."

"The next year coming up is going to be an important year as far as law enforcement because we expect an influx of people coming in for the World's Fair."

Peterson continued saying, "We are definitely going to continue our fight against drugs."

Peterson, who served under Ladner from 1972 until 1979, is a resident of Bay St. Louis.

Tuesday night Peterson supporters showed their appreciation for the sheriff by throwing him a victory party.

Peterson joined the celebration, thanked all his supporters, danced to the band, and was unceremoniously thrown into the swimming pool.

Laughing about it Wednesday morning, Peterson said, "The only problem is, I wasn't wearing a water proof watch."

To reduce flooding, unemployment

Waveland seeking jobs, drainage program funds

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The City of Waveland is seeking a federal grant providing $300,000 for a two-year jobs program to employ some 25 people and improve drainage.

Hancock County's current unemployment rate is the highest ever recorded here with 16.3 percent.

Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson, the city's engineering firm, requested at a Tuesday night Waveland Board of Aldermen meeting and the officials approved advertising and conducting a public hearing regarding the proposed project and authorized Mayor John Longo to sign applications for the funds.

A public notice, which appears in this issue of The Sea Coast Echo, states the city is "considering" applying for a Small Cities Community Development Jobs Bill Block Grant of some $400,000 through the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, Department of Community Development.

The funds are available to communities "on a competitive basis" to benefit "low and moderate income persons," improve "slums or blight," or correct an immediate threat to "health and welfare of the community," the notice lists.

The aldermen set the public hearing for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall to obtain "citizen input" regarding the project.

Longo said the city is seeking the funds for the two-year labor-intensive project which would employ about 25 people at about $7,000-annually-per-person, which is slightly above the present minimum wage.

Eaton reported the city should be able to obtain $250,000 to $300,000 out of $7 million available statewide.

He revealed the primary requirement for obtaining the grant is that the city utilize at least 51 percent of the money for labor to help employ the local jobless, but Eaton said he hoped 60 percent of the funds would be used for wages.

The remaining funds would be used for hiring contractors with digging equipment, the engineer reported.

He recommended the city in the proposed project begin cleaning drainage ditches at the beachfront area and work northward toward US-90.

Eaton speculated the funds would be exhausted before crews actually reach the highway.

But Alderman Louis Smolensky said just after the meeting that drainage problems in the vicinity of the St. Joseph and McLaurin Streets intersection would definitely be remedied in the proposed project.

He reported that Herman Yarborough, an alderman and city utility superintendent, has had city crews working in that area cleaning ditches and installing a culvert to help alleviate recurring street flooding.

But more improvements are needed there and in the proposed project all ditches in the area "will be cleaned thoroughly," Smolensky pledged.

Eaton also revealed the city has some $30,000 left in a Farmers Home Administration financed water improvement project in which a new water tower and service lines were installed primarily in the US-90 business district.

Although the city is liable for "many thousands of dollars in liquidated damages" resulting from the project, Eaton said enough funds should be available to install six-inch water lines with five or six fire hydrants along Broad and South Streets between Sears Avenue and Brown Street.

The aldermen approved a change order to the FmHA project to install the lines as recommended by Eaton.

In addition, the board authorized Eaton to prepare specifications for installing an automatic front door bell and replacing old roofing at the Waveland Library.

Eaton would not reveal the estimated cost of the roofing project because he feared contractors would submit high bids if that figure was made public.

But he estimated the door bell installation at about $100.

The engineer said roofing on the original portion of the library is leaking and should be replaced so the recently remodeled and enlarged library will not sustain further water damage.

Hancock unemployment again at all time high

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County's unemployment rate for the second time this year has jumped to an all-time high based on Mississippi Employment Service records.

The county's current jobless rate recorded for June is 16.3 percent, the records list.

In the previous two months the employment service reported Hancock unemployment rates of 13.4 percent.

The only recorded county jobless rates which neared such high levels were with 12.9 percent in February and 12.3 percent in Nov., 1977.

Hancock's present high unemployment level is the result of 1,630 residents out of work from a civilian labor force of 10,010, the employment service report shows.

State and national rates of 13.6 and 10.2 percent, respectively, for the same month are much lower than Hancock's jobless figure.

Mississippi's unemployment rate reflects an increase of 1.6 percentage points compared to May's 13 percent jobless rate, says O. H. Simmons, Mississippi Employment Security Commission executive director.

Last year's statewide June unemployment rate was 11.2 percent.

Commission figures show 145,700 unemployed and 827,400 employed out of a state civilian labor force of 1,073,100.

Initial unemployment insurance claims total 19,469 in June, Simmons says.

Some 75 of the state's 82 counties report unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher in June and eight counties list jobless rates in excess of 20 percent, the executive director reports.

Counties with the highest June unemployment rates are George with 26 percent, Jefferson with 24.5, Greene with 22.4, and Montgomery with 21.9.

Rankin, Oktibbeha, Yalobusha, and Issaquena Counties report the lowest jobless rates with 6.1 percent, 6.6, 9, and 9.3, respectively.

Some 76 counties report increases in unemployment rates from May to June, while only six reported decreases, Simmons adds.

Slidell Symphony to benefit from antiques program

An expert from Morton's Auction Exchange, Inc. will be in Slidell Wednesday, Aug. 31 to appraise objects of value from area homes.

Morton's, auction house for fine arts and antiques, is located on New Orleans Magazine Street.

David Pumphrey, a Morton-American furniture and decorating specialist, will conduct a day-long program of lectures and individual appraisals at the Slidell Municipal Auditorium.

The "Southern Discovery Day" event, sponsored by the Slidell Symphony Committee, is designed to uncover the hidden treasure contained in many Southern homes.

"This part of the South is a rich source of art and antiques," Pumphrey said. "Yet many people have no idea what their possessions are worth at today's market prices."

"We conduct programs all over the South and we nearly always find objects of considerable value," he said.

He said that Morton's was especially interested in finding items for consignment to their annual Louisiana Purchase auction. That event, scheduled for Oct. 27-29, is conceived as a showcase for Southern art and antiques.

The Discovery program begins with a lecture and discussion period at 10 a.m. Appraisals will be scheduled for every 15 minutes throughout the afternoon. Pumphrey emphasized that interested parties should contact the Symphony Committee in advance of the event to schedule an appointment.

A $5 fee is charged for each item appraised, and all funds raised in this manner will go to benefit of the Slidell-Symphony Committee.

For further information, contact Morton's Auction Exchange, 701 Magazine Street, P. O. Box 30380, New Orleans, LA 70190, or call 504/561-1196. In Slidell call 643-6810 for an appraisal appointment.

The big weekend for St. Clare's Catholic Church gets underway Friday night with a Seafood Dinner.

Waveland Mayor John Longo and a variety of chefs have the grease ready for the many varieties of seafood which will be served from 4 to 10 p.m.

The seafood dinner will be in the school's cafeteria behind the church on Beach Boulevard, Waveland.

We have eaten at the event many times and know a person receives a very nice dinner for a small donation.

There are many events such as the Annual Church Fair on Saturday and Sunday, also a Miss and Beau Contest, and a Run for Fun.

If you are looking for a good time, visit St. Clare's Fair this weekend.

We have already noticed many of the political posters have been removed from the trees and stobs on Wednesday.

There are still several races to be settled with runoffs, and these candidates should leave their signs up for at least until the run-off.

The candidates who are no longer running, we urge them to remove all of their signs, and want to thank those who have already done so, or are in the process of doing so.

A severe shortage of a supply of blood makes the Blood Drawing next Wednesday at the American Legion Home in Waveland very important.

As many of you know, there has been a increase in the use of blood and a decrease in the amount of blood being donated.

This is a matter of record not only with the Hancock County Blood Bank which acts in cooperation with the American Red Cross, but nationwide.

The drawing is scheduled from 3 to 7 p.m., according to Lyn Rutherford, blood chairman of the Waveland Legion Post.

If you are able, please give....blood.

CROWDS GATHERED AT COURTHOUSE FOR RETURNS—Crowds gathered early Tuesday night to hear returns from the Democratic Primary. Several hundred interested citizens remained until the final returns were announced around 10 p.m. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

The young boy slept as the returns were announced to several hundred interested Hancock County electors at the Hancock County Courthouse Tuesday. Nature lover's widow proposes unusual tribute

Letters to the Editor

To our wonderful friends in this area:

—Thank you for all your support and love you have given us. Horatio loved this area and its beauty. He walked his part of the beach every day, picking up glass, cans and trash that spoil the beauty God has created for us. He resented man's disregard for the beauty of nature.

As a tribute and memorial to him, each of you can bend down and pick up this debris—and maybe you will live to be 75 too!

Lovingly,

Incumbents to face runoffs for judge, supervisor posts

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Running for a sixth term for District Two seat on the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, A.A. (Dolph) Kellar will face Ronald E. Cuevas of Pearlinton in a runoff Aug. 23.

Kellar, who won with less than a majority of the votes in Tuesday's Democratic primary election, had 838 votes. His opponent, Cuevas took 566.

Because of the new redistricting, about 60 percent of the voters in the new District Two had never voted for Kellar before.

Cuevas, a strong challenger, is from Pearlinton an area just added to the new district lines.

Also running for the position of District Two supervisor, Clinton (Sonny) Ladner, received 445 votes.

Bert Courge, incumbent supervisor of District One will also be in a runoff facing Robert Peterson of Clermont Harbor.

In the unofficial count Courge had 853 votes to Peterson's 532.

Other candidates for the District One post were Jimmy Thornton with 511 votes, Dominic Valachi with 16, and Don R. White with 76 of the votes.

Other incumbents running in the race were Roger Dale Ladner, District Three supervisor who won with an unofficial count of 1,042. Runner-up was Oscar Peterson with 540 votes and third runner-up was Lloyd Anderson with 446.

James N. (Jimmy) Travirca, District Five supervisor, kept his seat by taking 924 of the votes. Runner-up for the position was Russell J. Elliott with 522. Third in the race was Juanita Shubert with 167 votes.

District Four supervisor, Sam Perniciaro was unopposed in the primary. Perniciaro said Tuesday night after the totals were read, "I'm well satisfied with the results. I really hope that Mr. Courge and Mr. Kellar will make it in on the second try because it has been a pleasure working with them over the last eight years."

In the coroner's race Carl J. Banderet Jr. took 3,761 votes. Howard S. Poole received 1,067 and Harold J. Stiglet Sr. received 3,665 votes. Banderet and Stiglet will face each other in a runoff Aug. 23.

In the race for tax collector, tax assessor, incumbent Edward D. (Eddie) Murtagh won by a landslide with 6,139 of the votes to Larry August Ladner Sr.'s 2,617 votes.

A runoff will be held for the Justice Court judge's seat in the East District between Bruce J. Necaise incumbent in the present District Four that was eliminated by a change from five to two court seats. Necaise received 1,810 of the unofficial votes. His challenger, Joseph (Joe) Dobson received 1,253 votes.

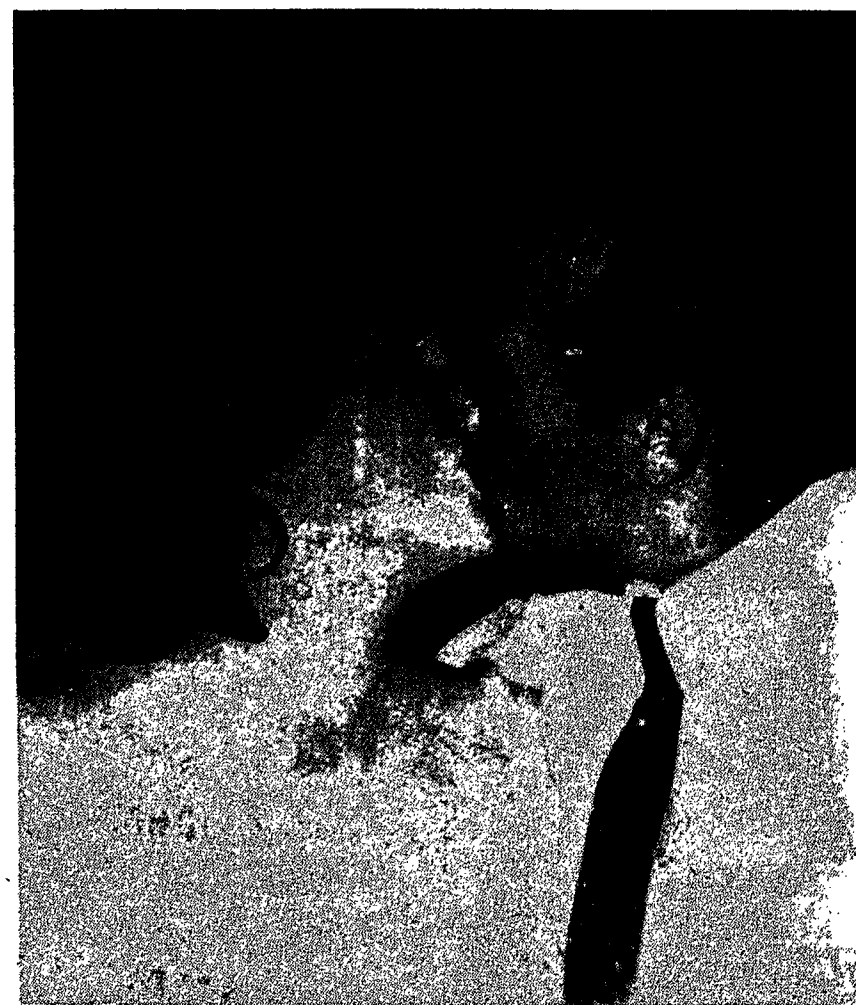

Incumbent Justice Court Judge Horatio Frierson, who now represents District Two, ran unopposed for the West District.

Only two incumbent constables ran in the primary. They are Peter Joseph Noto in District One and Willie E. Carbonette in District Four. Noto with 712 votes will face Tommy J. Ladner with 511 votes in a runoff on Aug. 23 also.

Phillip W. Malley won the vote in District Three for constable with 1,186 of the votes.

Running for constable in District Five, Alton (Clay) Sick Jr. will face Kire C. Mitchell in a runoff. Sick took 593 of the votes to Mitchell's 397.

State senate representative seats to be decided in runoff

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Earl E. (Buck) Ladner and Gary Eugene Taylor will probably face a runoff for the position of state senator District 46.

The reason for the probability is that the results in this race were inconclusive because of a problem with the automatic plastic mask at the voting machines in the Waveland East precinct said election commission officials.

The difficulty occurred because there was no hole punched in the plastic mask over candidate Taylor's name, preventing the stylus from penetrating the voter's card, said Charles Gottschalk, election commission secretary.

By 10 a.m. the error had been corrected, but by then 130 people had already cast their ballots.

The senate district includes portions of Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson counties. The incomplete totals show Ladner ahead with 4,007 votes and Taylor in second place with 3,017. If these figures are similar after tabulation the two would face each other in a runoff Aug. 23.

In the election for state senator in District 47, Albritton led in Hancock County taking 304 votes. However, in the overall race, Martin T. Smith, who took 239 of the Hancock votes, received 8,242, 46.2 percent of the votes cast from the four county district. Albritton finished with 6,462 votes, 36.2 percent of votes cast.

Third runner up C.R. (Butch) Laird of Poplarville, received 3,133 of the overall votes cast. He received 172 of the votes cast in Hancock County.

The winner of the primary runoff will face Libertarian Charles Clark in the November election.

The District 106 race for the state House of Representatives, incumbent Wade O. Smith of Poplarville will face Curtis Holston, also of Poplarville, in the primary runoff.

Also running for representative in District 106, Howard L. Ladner Jr. took Hancock County with 568 of the votes. He received 1,470 of the overall votes, challenger, Cecil Ray Farr who took 26 Hancock votes received 248 votes county wide.

J.P. Compretta, incumbent for state representative District 122 ran unopposed. He received 4,963 votes from Hancock County.

Bay's Star Theatre going 'legit'

STAR THEATRE PREMIERE—The stars of "Grease," the long-running Broadway musical, to be presented by the Walter Anderson Players at the newly-renovated Star Theatre on the beach in Bay St. Louis on Aug. 11-12, are from left, Victoria Salloun who plays Rizzo, Jimmy Shambo as Kenickie, Edward Gernon as Danny Zuko, and Elena Caruso as Sandy. This will be the first of many live productions to be forthcoming at the Star Theatre, according to Kelvin Schulz, owner, and Ed Ling, collaborator.

A live production of "Grease," the long-running Broadway musical, will highlight the premiere re-opening of a newly-renovated Star Theatre on the beach in Bay St. Louis on Aug. 11-12 at 8 p.m. each evening.

This '50's rock-n-roll musical, still running on Broadway, was made into the most successful musical movie ever, and starred John Travolta. Playing the Travolta role of Danny Zuko is Edward Gernon, a 1983 valedictorian graduate of Coast High School.

The show is set at Rydell High School, where a new girl, Sandy, played by Elena Caruso, meets Danny, the super-cool leader of the local gang, and they fall in love.

Rizzo, the leader of the Pink Ladies, the gun-chewing, hip swinging girls' gang, is played by Victoria Salloun. Other members of the Pink Ladies are Monica Davidson, Pamela Esters and Angeli Scordino.

The Burger-Palace boys are played by Jimmy Shambo (Kenickie), Doug Underwood (Doody), C. David Delk (Roger) and Oscar Lestrade (Sonny).

Laine Anderson plays Miss Lynch, the old-maid English teacher, and Wendy Appleton plays Patty, the peppy All-American Cheerleader, who can twirl a mean baton.

The show is full of great songs that have become a part of American musical history, like "Summer Nights," "Look At Me, I'm Sandra Dee," "Beauty School Drop-Out," and "Greased Lightnin'." It is directed by Nita Wilson Klein, assisted by Joan Dunn Gilley. Choreography is by Wayne Stephens and the set by Beryl Heard.

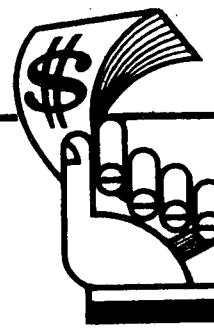

Step back into the fun-filled 50's. Tickets are available at the door: Adults $5, Children under 12 $3.

The show, by Jim Jacobs and Warren Casey, is presented by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

Two NO men hurt in US-90 wreck

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Two New Orleans men were injured in a US-90 traffic accident in Bay St. Louis early Monday afternoon.

Mary Perkins, public relations director of Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis, confirmed Tuesday that Thomas H. Pace, 34, and Mike Megginson, 27, both of New Orleans, were treated at HGH for apparent minor injuries just after the mishap and released.

Pace suffered a bruised forehead and Megginson a lip cut, Perkins reported. Sgt. Joe Pica of the Bay Police Department said Tuesday that Harrison E. Gipson, 43, of 104 Leopold St. in Bay St. Louis was charged with failure to yield in the two-car collision.

Chief Douglas Williams of the department noted Tuesday that a Bay City Court hearing for Gipson would probably occur Wednesday night.

Pica reported his accident investigation indicates Gipson was driving his pickup east along US-90 and was attempting a left turn to travel north along Second Street.

Pace was driving his compact station wagon west along US-90 with Megginson as a passenger when their vehicle collided in the intersection with the Gipson pickup, Pica said.

The investigating officer reported Gipson said shrubbery in the highway median obstructed his view of the oncoming station wagon.

Both vehicles are extensively damaged as a result of the mishap with the station wagon's front end crushed and the right rear side of the pickup crumpled, Pica listed.

The two New Orleans men were transported to the hospital by Mobile Medic.

Additionally, Eaton reported owners of the former Stuckeys building on US-90 requested the city extend a sewage line to that location.

He also reported that Herb Dubuison, developer of a proposed office complex just west of the city's US-90 water tower would like the city to extend a water line to the site.

But Longo replied any cost for additional pipe and its installation would have to be borne by developers or builders, but the city would provide 50 feet of relatively small diameter water service line.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. regular bi-monthly meeting at City Hall, the board:

—Directed wardens at the Animal Shelter to log the number of days an animal is kept at the facility, charge the owners a redemption fee based on how long the animal is housed, receive and record the fee amounts, and turn over the money to the government entity where the animal originates.

Longo said he recommended the board action to simplify record-keeping at the facility which is jointly operated by Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county.

—Authorized the final $8,000 note payment to Merchants Bank and Trust Co. on the city's $30,000 loan secured to purchase City Fire Department Engine No. Two;

—Authorized a $108 annual rent payment to Seaboard System Railroad for the Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Park property at the corner of Central and Waveland Avenues;

—Authorized the final $2,500 payment to Southern Builders of Pass Christian for the shelter construction pending approval by the County Animal Control Commission;

—Authorized two $25 donations, each to the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre and the State Special Olympics program;

—Heard a report from Longo that the city was notified it now complies with State Revenue Sharing requirements.

The mayor said the state had questioned the city utilizing the funds for street lighting and not for the purchase of "real property";

—Received a letter from Leonard Logan thanking the board for its support of the Waveland Little League program;

—Tabled action regarding Red Reinike's borrow pit and the city's security fence infringement at the end of Gulfside Drive.

School board members OK actions of superintendent

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Terrell Randolph, superintendent of Hancock County School District, last Thursday advertised for bids for insurance on school buildings without approval of the school board.

During the Monday night Hancock County School Board meeting, a motion was accepted to ratify the actions of the superintendent.

Sue Dean, Randolph's secretary, said, "If he hadn't done that you'd be without insurance."

In other business, a letter of accreditation for Hancock North Central Elementary School was acknowledged by the board.

Also in other business, David L. Watts, Hancock County Forester recommended the following work be carried out for the fiscal year on Sixteenth Section lands:

Timber sales—16-7-14, 160 acres; 16-7-15, 400 acres; and 16-8-16, 320 acres.

Firelanes—16-7-14, 8 miles; 16-6-14, 8 miles; and 16-8-16, 3 miles.

Control burns—16-7-14, 550 acres; 16-6-14, 300 acres; and 16-8-16, 320 acres.

Boundary lines—16-5-14, 4 miles; 16-7-15, 4 miles; and 16-8-16, 3 miles.

Watts added that the above recommended work is in accord with an agreement between the Hancock County Board of Education and the Mississippi Forestry Commission under the authority of Senate Bill 2430, laws of 1978.

Watts also gave a report on work performed on Sixteenth Section lands from July 1, 1982 to June 30, 1983 as follows: Construction of nine miles of firelanes at a cost of $210.

Randolph looks to future

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Terrell Randolph, Hancock County superintendent of schools, defeated his opponent, Barney R. Necaise, Tuesday night by winning the Democratic primary election.

Randolph won by an unofficial vote of 2,524 to Necaise's 1,961. It was the second time in a year that Randolph won over Necaise.

The two faced each other in September when a special election was conducted to fill the unexpired term of Billy D. Sills, who was removed from office after pleading guilty to accepting kickbacks.

Randolph said late Wednesday, "I appreciate the vote of confidence from the people of Hancock County."

Randolph added, "I also want to commend my opponent and friend, Barney Necaise for running a good race and for the way he ran his race in a gentlemanly manner."

"In all due respect owed my opponent, I felt my opponent at times was the school board and other persons that were directly related to wrong doings in the superintendent's office for which they were dismissed for those activities."

Randolph continued, "I think the school board should now realize that the public does not want to be kept in the dark and wants the school board to take a position as a policy making body and not an administrative one."

"The school board is only a policy making body and should not interfere in the everyday administrative affairs of the school district."

"They must loosen their reins upon the superintendent, principals, and other employees so that the everyday operations of school activities can be conducted in a professional instead of a political fashion."

Randolph said the new educational reform act will be a challenge for the school board and administrators.

"This new bill will revolutionize the educational process in Hancock County and the state of Mississippi," Randolph said.

"I am looking forward to working with the children, their parents and the public in general during the next four years to improve the Hancock County school district."

"I want this district to be one that we can be proud of and hope that in several years we can look back to this particular time and say 'That this was the beginning of a new era of progressive education in Hancock County.'"

Hundreds fill courthouse

By JUNE M. HEYDT

Politicians everywhere shaking hands and passing out cards. Where do the cards end up? On the ground or in the trash.

Most people before they go to the polls have already decided whom they are going to vote for anyway.

Following the closing of the polls people lined the halls of the Hancock County Courthouse to hear the final tallying and to see if their favorite candidate won.

Mike Necaise, chancery clerk, who ran unopposed, called out the tallies that quickly came in because of the new tally machines used in this election.

Necaise said, "We're usually the last ones on the Coast to come up with the counts, but we're going to get through early tonight."

Sam Perniciaro, District Four supervisor, who also ran unopposed, helped with the tallying. He had to use a hair-dryer to run over the ballots because the dampness swelled the paper and they were being rejected by the machines.

The tallying was finished by 10 p.m. Some of the old-timers in the group of anxious observers were saying that it usually took until 1 a.m. or sometimes even two in the morning.

Jim Pfeiffer, board secretary, said he remembers back in the old days when they would go back home and take a nap until midnight and come back to the courthouse to spend all night counting votes.

When it was all over sighs of relief came from the winners and a loser was heard saying, "I'll just have to try harder next time."

Candidates who will be in runoff, departed to work on their campaigns for the next two weeks before the runoff election to be conducted Aug. 23.

A runoff is conducted if the candidate who won did not win by 51 percent of the vote. The runoff is between the winner and the first runner up.

The courthouse was quiet by 11 p.m. the first Democratic primary was over.

Polls have some difficulties

By JUNE M. HEYDT

A rainy day, but election day anyway. At some of the precincts in Hancock County several of the people were a little dreary along with the weather.

One voter, when asked as she was walking out of a precinct, "Is this where you go to vote?" She answered with a disgusted look, "If that will be the right place when you get there."

At the Waveland Community Center precinct, people couldn't punch the hole next to Gene Taylor's name. Taylor is running for state senator in District 46.

Dave Hubbard, a manager at the Waveland precinct said, "We told each voter that if they want to vote for District 46, Gene Taylor, that they would have to pull the ballot out and punch in the hole manually."

Charles Gottschalk, election committee secretary, came to Waveland and fixed the ballots. He said, "In the mask, the hole was not punched." Gottschalk said that 6,300 holes were punched and in the process five of them were missed for Gene Taylor.

Elizabeth Tait, a worker at one of the precincts said, "Some people in the same house are being sent to different places to vote."

Approximately 130 ballots had been cast before ballots were brought up to date.

In Standard precinct some of the people who voted, voted on demonstration ballots.

A voter from Kiln went to the polls at 7 a.m. with his wife to vote before going to work. He was registered to vote at one place and his wife was registered at another.

One of the workers at the precinct commented, "We don't need Ringling Brothers to come to town, all we need is an election."

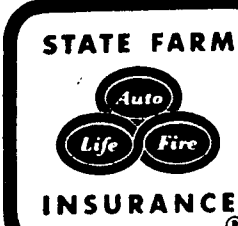

However, all was not bleak at the polls. Further down in Waveland at the Sears Ave. precinct, managers Janelle Piazza, Mickey Weidman, Billie Perkins, and Bonnie Paterson Bourgeois, all agreed everything was running smoothly there.

Piazza said, "We've had a real good turnout. At 11 a.m. 98 people had already registered."

The Bay High School precinct also had a good turnout. By 11 a.m. 148 people had registered and there were still lots of people waiting in line, said one of the managers.

One thing in common at most of the precincts was that they needed more voting machines. The precincts in most need were Diamondhead, Pearlinton and North Bay West.

WE TREAT YOU LIKE A PERSON. NOT A NUMBER!
When you buy insurance from an agent who works directly for one insurance company, he's probably not the person you talk to when you have a claim. Most one-company agents have nothing to do with claims. It's between you and the adjuster.
That's not the case when you deal with an independent Insurance Agent like me. I'm right here ready to serve you when you have a claim...helping you reach a fair settlement as quickly as possible.

Columbia weekend rodeo scheduled

The Marion County Cattlemen's Association Rodeo is slated Friday and Saturday in Columbia.

"A unique feature of this rodeo is that we buck two sets of bulls, one set at the beginning of the show and one at the conclusion," said association president Edward Kendrick.

"Most people come to watch the bull riding and we provide a lot of excitement in that category."

Other events will include bareback bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, and barrel racing.

The arena is located at the livestock showgrounds on Hwy. 13 south of Columbia. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Coast Guard reports boating accident statistics for 1982

The fatality rate for recreational boating accidents decreased in 1982 to the lowest total since 1963, according to the latest U.S. Coast Guard statistics.

Total fatalities from recreational boating accidents were 1,178, down 30 from the 1,208 deaths in 1981. There were 7.9 fatalities per 100,000 estimated recreational boats.

In contrast, the number of boating accidents, injuries and the value of property damaged increased in 1982. The Coast Guard estimates that it receives reports of fewer than 10 percent of the non-fatal accidents.

The statistics for the last four years show:

	1979	1980	1981	1982
Fatalities	1,400	1,360	1,208	1,178
Reported Accidents	5,368	5,513	5,128	5,377
Vessels Reported in Accidents	6,934	6,954	6,573	7,071
Reported Injuries	2,463	2,650	2,438	2,682
Reported Property Damage (millions $)	16.68	16.38	13.66	15.34
Registered Boats (millions)	8.28	8.58	8.91	9.07
Total Boats (Est.) (millions)	13.90	14.30	14.60	14.90

These and other statistics are published in Boating Statistics 1982 and can be obtained from Commandant (G-CMA), U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D.C. 20593.

Broadwater to host Senior play

The Broadwater Country Club's Biloxi Sun Course will host sectional qualifying for the 29th Senior Amateur Championship and the annual Mississippi Senior Amateur Championships.

The competitions are sponsored by U.S. Golf Association and the Mississippi Golf Association.

Practice round for the USGA is set Sept. 5, and the qualifying round is Sept. 6. The MSAC championships will be Sept. 6-8.

To enter the competition for the USGA Senior Amateur Championship, a golfer must have a certified handicap of 10 or less, be 55 years of age as of Sept. 6, 1983, and file his USGA entry form no later than 5 p.m. Aug. 17.

Entry forms may be obtained from club professionals; Col. William B. Reed, P.O. Box 7038, Gulfport 39501; or the USGA Golf House, Far Hills, New Jersey 07931. Forms must be mailed to the New Jersey address.

Entrants in the MSAC must be 50 years of age as of Sept. 6, 1983, and have a current USGA handicap of 18 or less, certified by MGA affiliated country club or golf association.

Entry forms must be mailed to P.O. Box 7038, Gulfport, no later than 5 p.m., Friday, Aug. 26.

Although only a few of the entrants will be skilled enough to realistically compete for the low gross championship, everyone in the competition has a chance to win the honor of being "crowned" State Senior Amateur Handicap Champion, i.e. low net.

There will be eight-man flights for various handicap levels from scratch to 18, with each flight named after a legendary golfer. Trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up in each flight.

The Mickey Bellande Medalist Trophy will also be awarded on qualifying day, Sept. 6.

Ole Miss quarterbacks profiled

The mere mention of Ole Miss football brings to mind two significant features in a very rich tradition. First, the Johnny Vaught era and those 24 winning seasons and secondly, great quarterbacks and lots of them.

For the 1983 edition of Rebel football, the latter should be no exception. The return of experienced signal-callers Kent Austin and Kelly Powell should mean the airways will be full of aerials this fall.

"The quarterbacks we have here at Ole Miss are probably as good a combination of two quarterbacks as there is in the league," new QB coach George Smith says. "Some schools may have one quarterback that is really good and the back-up isn't that good. But we've got two fine ones right here and we're pleased as we could be."

Actually, the Rebels have six QBs with reserves Kent Ott and David Wolf and signees David McKinney and Rusty Reed. Yet, the two that will direct the Ole Miss offense this fall will be Austin and Powell.

Austine, a 6-2, 176-pound junior-to-be from Brentwood, Tenn., shattered the Rebel record books a year ago, throwing for a school mark of 2,026 yards and 12 touchdowns. Also along the way, the business major set a NCAA milestone for passing percentage in a single game, 94.7 percent (18 of 19) against Tulane. And still there is more. The Rebel sharp-shooter completed 37 passes (school record) versus Tennessee and in the process, hit on 15 consecutive tosses for another school mark.

"Kent has a real quick release that helps his throwing ability," Smith said. In throwing for over 2,000 yards, Austin became the first of a long line of great QBs to reach the 2,000-plateau.

John Fourcade had the previous high of 1,897 yards, just ahead of Rebel standout Archie Manning with a single season of 1,762 markers.

A quick glance back to the 1982 season shows an interesting facet toward Austin's performance—he almost didn't get the chance. The reason: teammate Kelly Powell battled him tooth and nail for the starting spot.

Powell (6-2, 204), a senior from Bay Minette, Ala., started the initial two contests last season. And back in 1981, the physical education major landed the starting berth against Tulane, South Carolina, and Florida.

"Kelly is big and strong and has a tremendously strong arm," Smith says. "He is a real tough guy. Though he weighs 204 pounds, that is about right for him. Believe me, it is all strength."

The Rebels' "second starter," is labeled by head coach Billy Brewer, Powell has had his moments of greatness on the gridiron as well. In the 1981 season-opener at Tulane, it was Powell's 54-yard completion to split end Michael Harmon that set up the first Ole Miss touchdown, and it was Powell that came back to throw the game-winning, a 39-yard strike to former standout Strike Tyler, in the 18-18 thriller.

"Both quarterbacks complement each other," Smith says. "I think you can get a dimension from each one of them."

As far as reserves go, the Rebels seem to have some quality athletes in case something would happen to come up during the season to both Austin and Powell. Sophomore Kent Ott (5-10, 185) of Osyka, came to the Rebel camp as a walk-on and impressed the coaching staff last fall in practice and junior varsity competition. Another walk-on is soph David Wolf, a 6-5, 196-pounder from Claremont, Calif., who is also waiting in the wings if called upon.

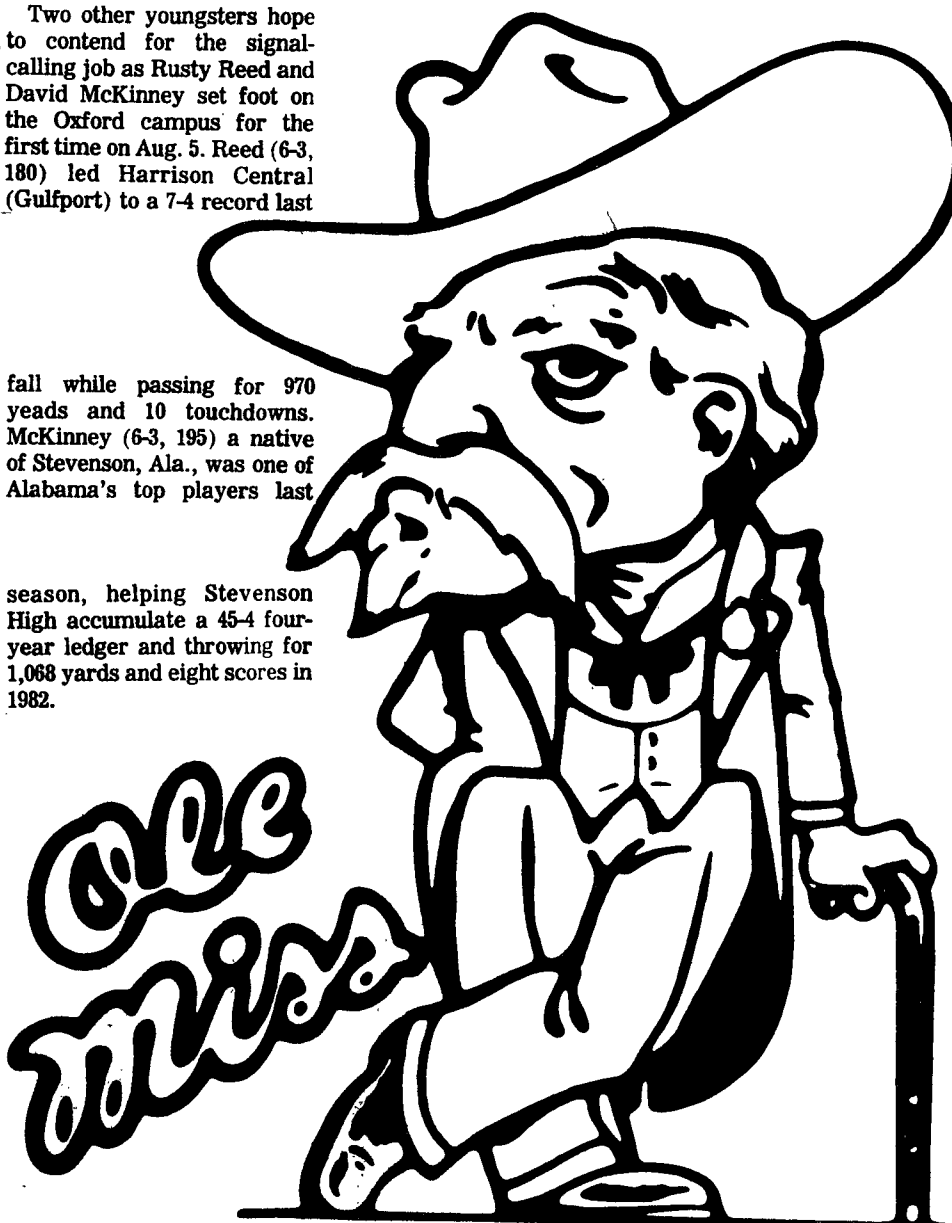

"Kent Ott's abilities are not quite as good as the first two QBs as far as the capability of throwing the football," Smith says. "But he is a smart player, one that could come in and not hurt you. He is going to be one of those quarterbacks who won't make a mistake."

"David (Wolf) is just in a situation where he is surrounded by good players and it will probably be awhile before he gets his chance. But you can never tell what will happen."

Two other youngsters hope to contend for the signal-calling job as Rusty Reed and David McKinney set foot on the Oxford campus for the first time on Aug. 5. Reed (6-3, 180) led Harrison Central (Gulfport) to a 7-4 record last fall while passing for 970 yards and 10 touchdowns. McKinney (6-3, 195) a native of Stevenson, Ala., was one of Alabama's top players last season, helping Stevenson High accumulate a 45-4 four-year ledger and throwing for 1,068 yards and eight scores in 1982.

Deer hunting courses set

Two Mississippi short courses, one south and one north, will give deer hunting enthusiasts an opportunity during August to visit with some of the leading experts on white-tail deer in the South.

Short courses will be presented at Gulfport and at Mississippi State University (MSU).

The Gulfport session will be held Aug. 13 at Gulfport High School. The MSU session will be held a week later on Aug. 20 at the Bost Extension Center on campus. Both sessions will begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m.

The short courses are sponsored by MSU, the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation.

A registration fee of $15 per person will be charged. Attendance is limited. Registration and fees should be sent to: White-tailed Deer Short Course, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 5405, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

At the Gulfport session, an internationally known expert on the techniques and effects of hunting deer with dogs will highlight the short course.

Dr. Larry Marchinton, who has hunted deer in the Southeast for the past 30 years, has published more than 40 scientific articles on white-tailed deer and has been sought out for advice by dog-deer hunting groups as far away as Australia.

Marchinton has studied white-tailed deer and how they respond to being hunted with dogs in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama. In addition, studies are currently being conducted in Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama.

The University of Georgia Wildlife Biology professor will discuss patterns of escape deer use when being hunted with dogs and how those patterns vary between bucks and does.

Other speakers at both sessions include: Harry Jacobson, noted deer biologist and researcher with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries at Mississippi State University; and Bob Zaiglin, wildlife photographer and author and widely recognized manager of white-tailed trophy deer.

At the MSU session, Bruce Brady, editor-at-large for Outdoor Life magazine will be one of the highlight speakers.

Brady is one of the most prominent outdoor writers in North America. He is an avid deer hunter who has hunted almost all species of North American big game from the Alaskan brown bear to Dall sheep.

Both general and concurrent sessions will be a part of the short course. General sessions will be scheduled four times during the day and will include white-tailed topics such as life history, biology, behavior, management and filmed highlights of trophy bucks.

Concurrent sessions will include manufacturers displays, a tour of MSU deer research facilities and demonstrations on improving hunting skills.

FISHIN' TIPS

QUESTIONS FROM THE MAIL BAG

DEAR TOM: Being a lure maker you should know the answer to my question. I see all colors of spinner blades, like red, green, yellow, copper, and nickel. I can't buy them all. Which is best?—Buzz

MISTER BUZZER: I've made 'em all colors, even chartreuse and hot pink, for our spinner bait line. But, sales records and personal experiments narrow my personal choice to one—nickel. I'm convinced if fish won't hit nickel then you're better off at home catchin' up on your chores.

DEAR EXPERT: Just what is the favorite food of bass? I hear they eat most anything.—Call Me Curious

HELLO CURIOUS: Well, bluegills (bream in the south) are found about everywhere bass live and make good forage. But, threadfin shad would have to be number one across the nation. I've got them in my experimental farm ponds and am very impressed with what they're doing for my bass population.

DEAR MISTER MANN: Being a bait-makin' man, Mann, do you ever use live bait? I hear shiners catch the biggest bass.—Sam Spade

HI SAM: As a boy, hornhead minnows were my favorite bait and helped me develop my love for fishing. Through the years, though, I got away from live bait and onto artificials. A lot of folks around our nation use live bait and do well with it. I'd say use what you have confidence in, that's half the battle of catching fish.

EAGLE VOICE

The University of Southern Mississippi football Golden Eagles will have a new play-by-play announcer for the 1983 season.

He's Paul L. Ellen Jr., who was the "voice" of the Auburn University football and basketball Tigers for the 1979 and 1980 seasons.

Currently the manager of Radio Station WAUD in the city of Auburn, Ellen, 30, was chosen from a group of 82 applicants for the job of broadcasting Golden Eagle football games.

He and two other finalists were selected by a search committee, and Ellen was the ultimate choice of a panel that included president Aubrey K. Lucas, athletic director Roland Dale and Dr. Clyde N. Ginn, executive assistant to the president.

Public relations director W.E. Kirkpatrick chaired the search committee and announced the appointment of Ellen.

A 1975 graduate of Auburn, Ellen worked in the University's Department of University Relations for five years as assistant editor for radio and television.

The Auburn sports networks made significant growth during the two years he headed them and in his second year included 84 affiliates for football and 25 for basketball. In 1982 he was the analyst on telecasts of Auburn football and basketball games.

Ellen succeeds Bill Goodrich and John Cox at the Golden Eagle football microphone. Goodrich was the voice of the football and basketball teams for more than 10 years before Cox replaced him during the 1982 grid campaign. Cox, USM's assistant sports information director, will continue to be the radio play-by-play announcer for basketball and will also be the co-host on the Jim Carmody Football Show and the M.K. Turk Basketball Show, on televisions.

GOLF COACH

Athletic academic counselor Teddy Bouillon will take on the additional duties of head golf coach for the 1983-84 season.

The Eagle golfers open the 1983 fall campaign on Sept. 9 in the three-day Central Bank/Northeast Louisiana College-AM in Monroe, La.

EARLY SEASON

Southern Mississippi women's volleyball coach Helen Grant will begin her fourth season when the Lady Golden Eagles open the 1983 season on Sept. 8 against Mississippi University for Women in Green Coliseum. Grant returns five letter winners from last year's team that posted a 9-26 record.

Top returning players for the Lady Eagles include 5-9 junior hitter Maureen Sullivan of Mobile, Ala., 5-6 senior defensive specialist Brenda Rozar of Long Beach; 5-11 sophomore setter Laura Bjorkland of Mobile; 5-8 junior hitter Sheila Sims of Biloxi and 5-6 sophomore setter Debbie Simpson of Mobile.

The Lady Eagles will be pointing toward the 4th Metro Conference Volleyball Championships slated for Nov. 18-20 in Louisville, Ky.

STRETCHING EXERCISES AID JOGGING PROGRAM

Are stretching exercises necessary in a jogging program? If so, which ones are most helpful?

Always spend time before and after exercise stretching your muscles—no matter what your age or condition. Athletes call these sessions warm-up and cool-down periods and consider them as important as the exercise itself.

Stretching a muscle is really making it more elastic, so that it's less prone to injury while you're exercising—whether you're running, swimming, playing tennis or bicycling.

Now that I've decided to start jogging, what stretching exercises should I do?

Runners need to stretch the back muscles, the quadriceps (muscles in the front of the thigh), the hamstrings in the back of the thigh, and the calf muscles.

A middle-aged person whose muscles are not as elastic as those of a younger person could, for instance, rupture the Achilles tendon in the heel if the calf muscles aren't stretched.

Beginning runners should spend more time stretching before and after exercise. They should pay close attention to the muscles in the back of the calf and the hamstrings because these are most susceptible to injury.

The warm-up and cool-down stretches should be done in a slow, steady manner for 15 to 30 seconds, four to five times for each muscle stretch. The stretch position should feel tight but never painful.

The following are suggested stretches for some of the muscles used in jogging:

Hamstrings: Lie flat on the back and pull each knee to the chest and slowly raise legs up, pointing feet toward the ceiling. Don't stand and touch toes to stretch the hamstrings since this could aggravate the lower back.

Quadriceps: Lie on the back with knee bent and foot pulled back toward the side. Slowly lower the knee. Avoid this exercise in the event of knee problems.

Back muscles: Lie on the back, bend knees and clasp them with hands. Rock gently back and forth.

Calf muscles: Stand with feet flat, two to three feet from a wall, lean forward, keeping heels on the ground, and put forehead against the wall and press the wall with the palms of hands.

Shoulders: Lean over and swing arms in a pendulum motion.

These warm-up and cool-down exercises may seem unimportant and time consuming, but they are vital for avoiding injury in any strenuous activity.

Persons over 40 planning a strenuous exercise program should first have a thorough examination by a doctor.

Additionally, for those over 30 and bothered by any chronic muscular or skeletal problems, a physical examination is important to determine which exercises should be avoided.

A final word of caution: beginning runners try to run on a smooth, soft surface like a track for a while before taking to the pavement.

Muscles and joints will suffer less from the impact and are less likely to be injured.

This "Matters of Health" was prepared in cooperation with physical therapists at the University of Mississippi Medical Center—Mississippi's only health sciences campus.

Readers may suggest topics by writing to "Matters of Health," The University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, Miss. 39216.

Two-day hunter program slated

The University of Southern Mississippi Recreation Department and the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation will sponsor a Basic Hunter Education workshop Aug. 20 and 21.

The ten-hour course is open to all ages and is designed to certify the participant in the basic hunter guidelines necessary for certification in Hunter Safety.

Topics to be covered include: hunter responsibility, firearms, bows and arrows, wildlife identification, game laws and management, survival and first aid, water safety and hunter ethics.

The course will meet the qualifications required for a permit to hunt in Western U.S. states. Firing of live .22 caliber ammunition will complete the introductory course. For additional information contact the USM Hunter's Institute at Box 5056, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, MS 39401, or telephone (601) 266-4189.

- a) Death
- b) Structural damage to brain and spinal cord
- c) Liver and kidney failure
- d) All of the above

ETV Brief

DOUBLE BRIDESHEAD
Episodes four and five of "Brideshead Revisited" will both be telecast on Monday, Aug. 8, at 8 and 9 p.m. Episode four was pre-empted last Monday night at its regular, scheduled time for pre-election programming.

Registration

In anticipation of another record fall enrollment, Pearl River College will stage registration over three days instead of the customary two.

According to Dr. Willis Lott, PRC's director of admissions, The River's fall registration will be conducted from Monday, Aug. 22 through Wednesday, Aug. 24. "We do not want our students to be rushed while planning their schedule," Lott said. "The additional day will allow our faculty the needed time to counsel more effectively."

Students will register according to a published alphabetical listing starting at 10 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 22. Freshman, transfer and former students will start their registration process by appointment at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday and will continue through Wednesday, Aug. 24.

"Registration is a very important aspect of getting off to a good school year," Lott said. "That's why it's necessary that we have a registration schedule to insure an orderly and fair registration system."

Students may register after their scheduled time, but not prior to the scheduled time. "We realize many of our students work and/or commute with other students, but we will not be able to accommodate students who wish to register early," Lott said.

An orientation and testing session for all freshman and incoming transfer students will be held at 8:15 a.m. Friday, Aug. 19 in the Pearl River College Coliseum. The orientation session is required for these students before they can register.

Pearl River College's computer buses will run during the orientation session and days of registration. Registration will close at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 24 and late registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., Thursday, Aug. 25. Classes will begin that same Thursday at 8:15 a.m. Students may change their schedules through Wednesday, Aug. 31.

The 1983 fall registration schedule at Pearl River College is as follows. Students may determine their registration time by finding their classification (freshman, transfer or sophomore) and using the first letter of their last name.

FLOWER BEDS LINE THE YARD—A person has to pause and take a look at how beautiful the gardens are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kollasch, 7914 Hapuna Place, Diamondhead. Fruit trees, flower beds, bushes and vines all add to the splendor in the grass in this garden. The Kollaschs are the winners of the July Garden of the Month award presented by the Diamondhead Garden Club. (Staff photo by June M. Heydt)

Score One for "Program" SLRs

I remember the introduction of the auto-exposure single lens reflex camera, remember thinking how dumb it was. Who couldn't match two needles in the viewfinder in order to get a proper exposure?

Who needed a camera in which the user selected an aperture and it selected a shutter speed or vice versa? Like many other "serious" photographers, I thought the auto-exposure SLR would soon turn previously interested amateurs into a bunch of totally disinterested snapshooters, point-and-shooters, photographic dropouts.

It turns out, of course, that I was wrong. I can't count the number of students I've taught who began shooting the formidable SLR with the camera set on auto, only to graduate to manual-exposure photography with time.

It seems that once a person grows comfortable with an auto-exposure SLR, he very often gets more daring. He begins wondering why there's a manual-exposure override system on the camera. He wants to know what it can do that auto-exposure can't.

Well, I suspect the same will turn out to be true of the newer auto-exposure "program" cameras. These cameras, powered by Canon and Minolta, choose correct aperture and shutter speed.

Think about that for a moment. All the photographer need do is set the camera on program mode, point, focus, and shoot. What's the proper aperture?

He need never worry about it. What's the right shutter speed? He need never know. It seems the perfect opportunity, once again, to turn otherwise thinking photographers into "photodroids." Just point and shoot.

You need never worry about the relationship between lens aperture and shutter speed in obtaining a properly exposed photograph. You need never learn about the peculiarities and intricacies of light.

In fact, when shooting a program SLR, all you need to learn is when not to shoot. If the light is so low (or so bright) that the camera can't produce a combination of lens aperture and shutter speed for a proper exposure, it will indicate that with a beep or a blink or some other signal not even a complete camera copout could ignore.

It is—let's be honest—the perfect opportunity to kill photography, to stop it in its tracks. Why bother learning when we can leave it all up to the camera?

Yet, I suspect beginning photographers will bother learning...and for many of the same reasons people everywhere bother learning anything. Because it's there to be learned. And the more we know—even in this remarkably complex computerized world of ours—the better we become.

As an afterthought, the new auto-exposure program cameras may turn out to be the best thing to happen to serious photography in a long, long while. It so happens that I would no more consider shooting a camera in the "program" mode than I would entering my Ford van at Le Mans. But think about this:

Someone who knows absolutely nothing about photography and is, in fact, scared to death of the beast goes out to buy a camera—something simple to operate, something for family snapshots to make a visual record of the kids growing up. To record that once-in-a-lifetime trip to the Orient. For whatever reason.

At first, a 110 cartridge camera seems best. It's small, lightweight, and simple to operate. But, on the debit side of the ledger, it simply can't produce sharp enlargements of 8 x 10 inches or more. And it doesn't take 35 mm film, the cheapest and most widely available of all film formats.

Then this person discovers the existence of the new program SLR. It's as simple to operate as any cartridge camera. It takes 35 mm film. It delivers sharp enlargements to 11 x 14 inches or better (depending on film used).

The person buys the SLR. And the resulting photos are superb. Soon, this person discovers something called the camera instruction book; and it no longer seems so very, very difficult to take the camera off its program setting and put it on manual in order to capture those tricky backlit or spotlight subject—or to freeze action with a fast shutter speed or blur the background with a shallow depth-of-field.

Soon that person—the same person who very nearly bought a 110 cartridge camera in order to take passable snapshots—would no more consider shooting the camera in the program mode than entering a Ford van at Le Mans.

Score one more for photography. Thanks to the new program SLRs.

Next week: A look at the newest 35 mm program camera.

Can a "program" SLR give you hassle-free exposures on shots like this? You bet!

New Home Construction System Lowers Cost, Improves Quality

A new system of home construction—truss-framing—will help reduce the cost of housing and is now available to the public. Many people hope that this will help to overcome the extreme shortage of housing that has long been a problem for minority Americans.

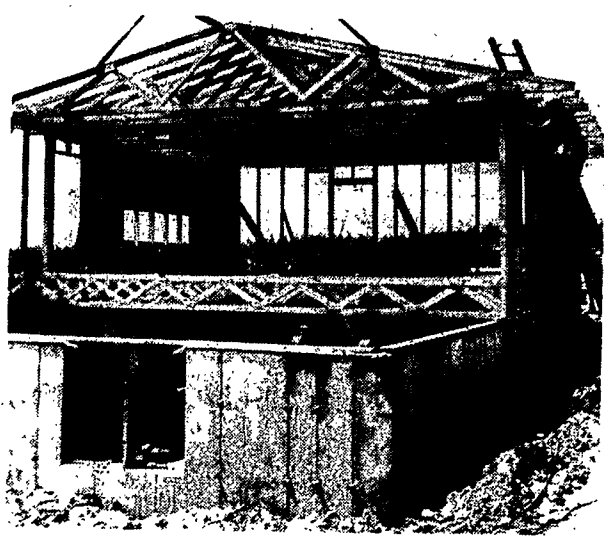

At first glance, a truss-frame house appears to be an ordinary home. A closer look, however, shows that it's anything but ordinary. The house skeleton—its frame—is a new design. As a result, the house is stronger, less expensive, quicker to build, and has greater flexibility for interior arrangements than houses with conventional frames.

Perhaps more importantly, the new framing system uses 30 percent less lumber than a conventional home of the same size. The result?—a contractor who built the prototype truss-frame house bid $2,300 less for erecting its frame than for framing the house by conventional methods. One of the first of these homes was framed and sheathed by three workers in just six hours.

These strong, high-quality and low-cost homes were invented by a Forest Products Laboratory engineer. The prototype house was built by the Forest Products Laboratory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service with the help of the University of Wisconsin.

Research for the framing system began when Forest Service scientists viewed homes damaged by an earthquake in Alaska, a tornado in Nebraska and several hurricanes on the East Coast. They noticed that the houses in these disasters generally came apart at the seams. For instance, the entire roof would come off in one piece.

Forest Service engineers then built a full-sized house inside a laboratory and subjected it to the same pressure it would experience in a high wind. This research confirmed that the seams—the joints where the walls are fastened to the roof and the foundation—were the weak places.

The results of these tests were then used to invent the light weight truss-frame house. Basically, the truss-frame consists of a roof truss, a floor truss and wall studs all fastened together into a single rigid unit. These are spaced on 24-inch centers to form the skeleton of the building. Builders need no special knowledge or equipment to construct the homes, doing work in just a few hours that conventional methods would require weeks to complete.

For many people who have found themselves priced out of the current home market, truss-frame housing is building new hopes.

All New Homes Require Regular Ventilation To Maintain Indoor Air Quality

By Susan Fiske
Consumer Affairs Advisor
Manufactured Housing Institute

How often have you heard (or exclaimed) "It smells so new!" upon entering a newly constructed building?

That "new" odor is often caused by the vapors emitted from the formaldehyde compounds used in the manufacture or bonding of almost all building materials—plywood, fiberboard, particle board, formica, carpeting, textiles—the list is almost endless.

For most the smell is barely noticeable and it usually diminishes in strength as the house "breathes" and as it is blended with the normal indoor air pollution produced by everyday living—by tobacco smoking, by stoves, fireplaces, etc.

Unfortunately, the "tightening" of buildings in recent years to conserve energy tends to trap and concentrate air pollutants, resulting in substantial increases in the levels of such indoor air pollution.

Check Wages

People in the local area who receive Social Security checks and who also work should take time to check their earnings. A Social Security representative said recently.

Those who earlier estimated that their 1983 earnings would not exceed the annual limit should check to make sure they have not earned more than they anticipated, the spokesperson said. The 1983 annual limit is $6,600 for people 65-70 and $4,920 for people under 65 all of 1983.

If a person's annual earnings exceed the limit, $1 in Social Security benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the limit. A person will have to repay any benefits that were incorrectly paid.

If a person finds that he or she is earning more or less than expected, he or she should notify Social Security immediately so that benefits can be adjusted and an overpayment avoided.

If a person's earnings are less than expected, benefits may be restarted if they had been stopped.

Growing Child

Helping a child learn to be independent

When a young child starts to walk, his parent's attitude about his independence suddenly becomes very important.

Children inevitably grow up. And we want them to grow up with a sense of confidence and self-sufficiency. How can parents help their children become independent?

According to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, parents need to:

- Understand what a child can and can't do at a given time, and
- Be willing to allow the child the proper amount of independence and responsibility, based on his abilities.

Neither of these are as simple as they sound. In the first case, a parent's perception of a toddler's abilities can be colored by their own fears and ambitions.

In the second case, a clear understanding of a child's abilities does not guarantee that you won't sometimes overprotect your child and do too many things for him, or else push him beyond his capacity.

During the second year of life, children can start to learn independence in the self-help areas of eating and dressing—and in the area of toilet-training.

Each of these activities has a number of steps. To help a child learn independence, break the activities down into parts. Let the child do the things he can do. Help him with the things he needs to learn. And do for him the things that are still too difficult.

This step-by-step approach has several advantages.

First, when you break a task down into steps you begin to appreciate that even a simple action is made up of a number of small motor movements, some easy and some hard.

Second, when the child does what he can, he's getting plenty of practice in his basic, previously learned skills. This is necessary before he can advance to more complicated movements. It's like building a launching pad from which to attack higher goals.

And finally, it puts you in a position to judge when the child is ready to handle more of the task himself.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information and a free sample of the newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.
